Nominate someone for the 2019 Australian of the Year Awards

Over the past 58 years, our nation has been inspired and privileged to hear the stories of Australians from all walks of life, recognised through the Australian of the Year Awards.

Nominations for the 2019 Australian of the year awards are now open. Do you know someone who is great at what they do, contributes to Australian society and inspires those around them? They could be quiet achievers, community members, leaders in their field of work, household names or unknown heroes. The Awards rely on members of the public to nominate and we encourage you to identify and put some of our best and brightest forward for the 2019 Awards.

Nominees could be recognised in one of the four categories:

- Australian of the Year
- Senior Australian of the Year (65 and over)
- Young Australian of the Year (16 to 30 years)
- Australia's Local Hero.

Nominating someone is easy – just head to www.australianoftheyear.org.au by Tuesday 31 July 2018 and explain who they are, what they've achieved and why you'd like to see them recognized.

2018 Council Elections update

Nominations for the 2018 Council elections open on 4 September. Have you Enrolled to vote?

There's a lot of work being done by both the LGA and councils to make sure we reach as many voters and potential candidates as possible.

The LGA has developed a suite of creative materials to help councils promote the elections in their own communities, and these materials have been available to download from their website since last November. It's great to see these promotional materials being used by councils in different ways.

The LGA is also rolling out a comprehensive pre-election training program, that includes training for council staff on the voter's roll manual and caretaker provisions, as well as "Make a difference – nominate for council" sessions that will be conducted from July.

The LGA are currently redeveloping the candidate's handbook to better help prospective councillors navigate the process of nominating for council, and understand what's involved in being a council member. This handbook will be available from the LGA, councils and ECSA by mid-July.

By mid-July we'll also have new promotional videos ready, as well as a redeveloped council elections website, that will ultimately allow voters to search for and find their local candidates.

As always, this year's elections campaign will consist of three phases – Enrol, Nominate and Vote.

Many councils have already commenced local promotion of the Enrol phase, and these activities will continue until voter enrolments close on 10 August.

The Nominate phase will run from late July until nominations close on 18 September, and the Vote phase will kick off in mid-September, with voting packs set to arrive in October.

In addition to council campaigns, there will also be a state-wide campaign that will support and leverage local activities.

Ukulele Showcase

Members from Walkerville's ukulele courses participated in a showcase on Saturday in the Town Hall.

Thirty people came together to play the ukulele and sing along. This is a wonderful opportunity for the groups to showcase their talents and for members of our community to join in. Particular thanks go to Rick Whitehead our guru uke teacher.

Street Libraries

Two of our Street Libraries have been placed on Mary P Harris Reserve, fronting Victoria Terrace and Crawford Reserve on Walkerville Terrace.

Books will be able to be borrowed and swapped out by the community – simply reach in, take what interests you and tell your friends. Once you're done, you can either return it to the Street Library or replace it with your own donation for someone else to enjoy.
